

RULES OF THE ROAD

a guide to road trip etiquette, because road trips are fun

- Pack lightly.
- Give local grub a go. Try the mom and pop places along the way.
- Play road trip potluck and bring your fave drinks and snacks to share.
- Only "number one" in the R.V. bathroom. Pretty please
- Take any opportunity to use the restroom when we stop.
- No littering (inside or outside the car)
- Whoever is sitting in the very back determines the temp controls. We know it gets hottest back there!
- Play "snack master" At each pit stop find a local snack. Whoever finds the tastiest local snacks as voted by your road mates wins the coveted "snack master" title.
- Shotgun is reserved for the second in command, the navigator.
- Everyone gets to take turns with music. The hours on the road will be divided by the number of passengers, that is how long each rider gets to play DJ.
- Take a photo in front of at least one quirky roadside attraction or sign along the way.
- Rotate seats. Make sure everyone has the opportunity to try the best and least best seats of the house.
- If time allows, stop at visitor center and collect postcards.
- BYOPC (bring your own phone charger)
- Have fun, look out the window, dance in your seat, share snacks, and sing really loudly to at least one song.

Have a nice day,
